FASCISTS DELIVER A CRUSHING BLOW AT LOYALIST LINES

Government Defenses Are Cracked in Sector Vital to Valencia, and, Perhaps, Madrid Itself.

WAR IS ENTERING THIRD DEADLY YEAR

Barcelona Gloomily Goes About Preparations for 'Victory' Celebrations.

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), July 17.—(AP)—The hard-pressed Spanish government's lines were smashed today in a sector vital to the defense of Valencia by a crushing blow that may change the whole picture of the Spanish civil war now entering its third year.

Insurgent General Jose Varela's Navarrese, striking deep into government territory south and east of the Teruel-Sagunto line in eastern Spain, swept into positions that threatened not only Valencia but possibly also Cuenca and Madrid to the west.

There was gloom in Barcelona, the government capital, and in Valencia as officials prepared war anniversary observances that will include a broadcast by rarely-heard President Manuel Azana tomorrow. But government leaders still confidently predicted final victory and exhorted workers and soldiers to give their utmost.

Concentrate Manpower. Both sides seemed to have concentrated every possible warplane, tank, gun and man in the arid, scorching countryside where the action may quicken. Insurgent Generalissimo Franco's march toward Valencia and lead eventually to a breach of communications between that port and besieged Madrid.

Government advisers said the insurgents lost "thousands and thousands" of killed and wounded. Insurgent reports mentioned between 3,000 and 4,000 government prisoners taken.

Varela apparently was taking advantage of the unprecedented concentration of government forces in the area, estimated at 180,000, about 50 miles northwest of Valencia.

Mora de Rubielos, Albentosa and San Augustin, on the 22-mile front, were captured yesterday in a fierce offensive in which the insurgents used every variety of weapon.

At Albentosa, where five roads converge from surrounding hills, insurgents said there was virtually no resistance and the town was found almost intact.

Captured by Italians. Semi-official advices from Valencia said Albentosa was captured exclusively by Italian forces. They said "the Republican high command" knows all troops operating in the Sarrion sector are Italian.

Swarms of insurgent warplanes, blasting out government fortifications in advance of attacking infantry for the third successive day apparently were overwhelming the pick of Defense General Miaja's "people's army."

CHINA TURNS TIDE WITH FOREIGN AID IN SMASHING DRIVE

New Long-Range European Artillery Is Devastatingly Successful in Blocking the Japanese.

GUERRILLAS WRECK ROADS AND BRIDGES

Nipponese Kill and Injure 100 in Canton Area With 500-Pound Projectiles.

SHANGHAI, July 17.—(UP)—China's battered legions, apparently rejuvenated by a "blood transfusion" of warplanes and long-range guns from Europe, tonight appeared to have delivered a smashing setback to the Japanese program for the capture of Hankow, the temporary capital.

Reports from both Chinese and Japanese sources indicate that the Japanese have been stalled, at least temporarily, east of Kiukiang, the last major obstacle between Nanking and Hankow.

Four Major Reasons. A survey of the fighting during the past week indicates four reasons for the checking of the Japanese advance, which now is admitted on all sides to be far behind schedule:

First, new European artillery has been devastatingly successful in retaliating against the Japanese for naval shelling, and has prevented large-scale landings of Japanese troops on the Yangtze river west of Hukow.

Second, a "mosquito fleet" of small, speedy torpedo boats has enabled the Chinese to harass Japanese naval craft on the Yangtze.

Third, the Chinese air force has suddenly been rejuvenated, probably by the addition of new planes to reinforce the shattered "front line," and has been unable to operate effectively against Japanese land, sea and air units.

Fourth, Chinese guerrilla units have destroyed all important highways and bridges between Nanking and Kiukiang, on both sides of the Yangtze, making it impossible for Japanese motorized columns to advance over the boggy lowlands along the river.

These factors, coupled with the rise of the Yangtze to flood stage, impeding all normal progress along the river lowlands, have turned the tide of war, for the present at least, against the Japanese.

Repel Land Forces. Chinese reports said their artillery had driven Japanese land forces back from positions along the river below Kiukiang, and had stopped a Japanese warship which was moving upriver toward Kiukiang.

The report did not say whether the warship was damaged, but said it had not shelled Kiukiang. Meanwhile Chinese warplanes were increasingly active, and reports from Chinese military sources said an aerial raid on Japanese warship concentrations near Hukow had driven them back, forcing the warships to discontinue.

On his return to the front office, Nishi renewed his representations but was told no border violation was involved because the territory occupied by the Soviet troops was Soviet territory.

One official said Japan was prepared "to take stern measures."

SOVIETS CALM OVER PROTESTS MOSCOW, July 17.—(AP)—Soviet circles are inclined to attach no importance to the incident in which Japan and Manchoukuo charge violation by Soviet troops of the Siberian-Manchoukuo border near Changkufeng.

Haruhiko Nishi, Japanese charge d'affaires, called the attention of the Soviet foreign office last Thursday to the alleged incident and was informed nothing was known about it but an investigation would be made.

On his return to the front office, Nishi renewed his representations but was told no border violation was involved because the territory occupied by the Soviet troops was Soviet territory.

Will Renew Their Old Feud at TVA Hearing

H. A. MORGAN. DR. A. E. MORGAN.

TVA Inquiry Starts Today, Reopening Feud of Morgans

Chairman Will Take Stand as First Witness in Joint Congressional Investigation; Lilienthal Will Follow Ousted Director.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 17.—President Roosevelt called Dr. Morgan to the White House last March and demanded he produce evidence to support his charges, but the engineer-educator stubbornly refused to testify before the President.

Mr. Roosevelt ousted him for "contumacy," or resistance to authority. Dr. Morgan declined to recognize the President's authority to remove him from office. He filed suit here in chancery court July 6 challenging the President's right to oust him, and asking recognition as TVA director-chairman.

Dr. Morgan's counsel said he was prepared to appear before the committee, which returned here today from an 800-mile trip through the Tennessee valley, where members saw the concrete results of the Authority's power, navigation, flood control, and conservation projects.

The Knoxville Journal said tonight Dr. Morgan had written the TVA investigating committee that his chief engineer, Thomas A. Panter, "may be subject to an influence unfriendly" to him.

"The question was raised in a letter sent to the committee by the former chairman," the paper said, adding that the letter "was discussed at length in the three-hour executive session held last Monday by the committee."

Every indication was that the scheduled appearance of the old feud between Dr. A. E. Morgan, ousted chairman, and his former associates, Directors David E. Lilienthal and H. A. Morgan, is virtually assured since Dr. Morgan is scheduled to follow H. A. Morgan to the stand.

Biddle said Lilienthal would be the third witness, adding that he expected the two directors and Dr. Morgan to be on the stand virtually all this week.

$900 PLANE HOPS TO MYSTERY GOAL, POSSIBLY EUROPE

Ship Loads With Enough Fuel To Reach Continent and Takes Off From Flare-Lit N. Y. Field.

YOUNG PILOT LACKS NAVIGATION TOOLS

Flew Last Week From Los Angeles, Non-Stop; May Be Returning.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(UP)—Douglas Corrigan, 31-year-old flyer who startled veteran aviators by flying non-stop from Los Angeles to New York in a $900 airplane a week ago, took off today on another "mystery flight" but it was not known whether he intended to fly back to California or to Europe.

The modest young flyer, who completed the trip from the west coast on July 9, arriving unannounced in the midst of Howard Hughes' preparations to take off on a world flight, soared into the sky at dawn today after telling attendants at Floyd Bennett field he was bound for Los Angeles.

However, he flew due east and was headed toward Boston on the "great circle" route over the Atlantic when last sighted, and it was believed he might be attempting an Atlantic hop.

The plane was loaded with 320 gallons of gas and 16 gallons of oil—enough to reach Europe or Los Angeles in the 1929 model Curtis Robin plane which the flyer remodeled for long-range flying.

Kept at Field. Friends of the flyer, who were at the field when he roared down the 4,200-foot runway, scouted the notion that he was attempting a "sneak hop" across the Atlantic. They believed he had circled over the ocean to gain altitude and would then head west across the country.

Airports along the transcontinental air lines were notified of the takeoff and asked to report the plane if it was sighted.

Corrigan spent part of the night sleeping on a cot in the hangar where his plane was kept during his week stay here.

The flyer asked permission to take off at 2 a. m., but Kenneth Behr, manager of the airport, refused to allow him to leave at that time, because the plane was so heavily loaded with gas.

Flare-Lit Take-Off. At 5:17 a. m. he sent his little single-motor plane roaring down the runway and within 1,000 feet of the end before he lifted it from the ground. The take-off had been marked by flares for 3,000 feet, and he passed the last flare before the tiny plane rose into the air.

The plane has no modern navigating equipment, and Corrigan flew from the coast using maps to guide him. Gasoline tanks were installed in front of the pilot's seat, which obscured the flyer's vision. In order to see straight ahead, Corrigan must flip the tail of his plane to right or left and look through the side windows.

Those are the prerequisites. Even if a girl does have family background and sufficient wealth she does not classify as a society girl unless she does participate in those three.

The background, Miss Ogden believes, is laid in the "backwardness" of select finishing schools.

ROOSEVELT LOAFES IN COOL BREEZES ABOARD HOUSTON

Scrubbed and Shining Cruiser Speeds to Fishing Grounds of the Pacific; Gulf Is Next.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 17.—(AP) President Roosevelt, loafing on the breeze-cooled decks of the cruiser Houston, sped toward Pacific fishing grounds today.

The chief executive embarked on the heavy warship here late yesterday, after putting the finishing political touch on his transcontinental speaking tour.

Twice during his last day ashore, Mr. Roosevelt had friendly words for Senator William G. McAdoo, his down-the-line supporter. At Los Angeles, he told a station crowd he hoped McAdoo would be returned to the senate.

Has Cool Weather. The Weather Bureau reported Mr. Roosevelt had cool weather today, with a half-and-half mixture of clouds and sunshine. Such weather gave him a welcome relief from the soaring temperatures he has encountered on his land trip westward.

The gun-bristling Houston, scrubbed and polished like the kitchen of a Dutch housewife, backed out of the harbor and pointed to sea with its officers instructed only to find good fishing grounds on the way to Panama.

To Try Luck. Passing through the canal, the President will pause again in the gulf to try his fishermen's luck. Mr. Roosevelt left the United States after a week of intensive speechmaking on behalf of his New Deal program and its supporters.

He stepped aggressively into three state primaries—those in Kentucky, Oklahoma and California. The Oklahoma primary already has been held, and the President's choice, Senator Elmer Thomas, has been renominated.

OIL TANK EXPLODES AND LEAPS RIVER, FALLING IN CROWD

Thousands of Yards of Sandbag Dykes Thrown Up in Effort To Halt Wellsville, N. Y., Blaze.

BLASTS ARE HEARD EIGHT MILES AWAY

Multitude of Spectators Watches as Flames Shoot High Into the Air.

WELLSVILLE, N. Y., July 17.—(AP)—At least four persons were killed, others were feared dead, and about 50 were slightly injured when a roaring fire spread havoc in a $15,000,000 Sinclair Oil Company refinery tonight.

Four hundred firemen from many western New York communities brought the fire under some semblance of control at midnight, but only after 13 storage tanks had been blown up and part of the refining plant destroyed.

One tank, arcing like a meteor through the sultry night, vaulted 200 feet across the Genesee river and fell in a group of spectators.

Three Bodies Recovered. Firemen recovered three bodies after the blast. Other men began cutting up the tank with acetylene torches, searching for other bodies.

The tank's fiery trip began with an explosion that sent a flame mushrooming, 200 feet high and 600 feet wide. This, searing a crowd of spectators on a hillside, accounted for many of the injuries.

Most of the injuries were minor. Only one man was taken to a hospital.

The fire began late this afternoon. By midnight (11 p. m., Atlanta time) highways were jammed with traffic streaming into this oil town from all directions. A massive cloud of smoke trailed for miles across the oil lands of the New York-Pennsylvania border country.

A general fire alarm was sent out over a 100-mile region. Oil workers rushed here with foam fire extinguishing equipment.

Witnesses said the tank looked like a mammoth ball of fire as it arched over the narrow river and plunged into the ground.

Robert Powers, 35, was killed by a piece of the flying, flaming metal.

Jean McCormick, 42, died of burns as the seething mass roared like a meteor to earth.

Confine Flames. They were part of a large crowd watching the blaze, in which 12 oil and naphtha tanks exploded, 14 steel-and-cork "filling towers" were destroyed and a waxing plant destroyed.

Thousands of yards of sandbag and dirt dikes were hastily thrown up in a wide circle around the blazing area, in an effort to halt the flow of burning oils.

Police Department Does Good Turn, Aids Scouts on Yellowstone Trip

Atlanta's police department did its good turn yesterday for a group of 14 Boy Scouts from Winter Haven, Fla., who are making a trip by truck to Yellowstone National Park at a cost of what they hope will be about $35 each.

Accompanied by five leaders and carrying complete equipment, they rolled up to the police station late yesterday and asked permission to move in. Permission was granted and in they moved.

In half an hour the station gymnasium had been transformed into a model camp complete with everything but tents, which, under the circumstances, were not considered necessary. The tents are being carried along, however, just in case they can't find a police station when they get sleepy.

Scoutmaster Thomas F. Costello, in charge, said the group is known as "The Trailcraft Troup," and is made up of nine "Star" Scouts and five "Eagle" Scouts, two of the highest ranks in scouting. Their ages range from 14 to 18.

The party rolled out of Winter Haven Friday morning and spent the first night at Lake City, Fla. They plan to leave early this morning, heading in the general direction of St. Louis.

WATCHMAN HURT IN MYSTERY FALL

W. P. Wellborn Unable To Remember How He Plunged Down Shaft.

A nightwatchman was critically injured yesterday in a 15-foot fall down the shaft of a freight elevator in a warehouse of the A & P Company at 881 Fair street, S. E.

Weyman P. Wellborn, 41, of 1427 Glenwood avenue, S. E., victim of the accident, was found unconscious about 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning by Doll Freeman, a negro employee of the company.

Rushed to St. Joseph's hospital, attaches said he suffered a broken left leg, a broken right arm, a fractured pelvis, undetermined internal injuries and a brain concussion.

Wellborn regained consciousness several hours later, but was unable, however, to say how he happened to fall. He told hospital attaches he couldn't "remember anything."

Automatic recording devices at the warehouse showed that Wellborn punched a clock near the shaft on the first floor of the building at 8:25 o'clock yesterday morning. It was believed he fell a few moments later, "landing on the cement floor of the basement."

He was working on the midnight Saturday to noon Sunday shift, his regular schedule.

Wellborn is married and has four children, Doris, 17; Majorie, 14; Weyman Jr., 12 and Myrleen, 8.

DRUNKEN DRIVING SHOWS DECREASE

Repeal Associates Cite Drop in Fatality Figures Since Return of Liquor.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Repeal Associates, a private organization opposed to prohibition, published today a study of highway accidents which said fatalities attributable to drunken driving had declined since repeal.

At the same time, the group condemned "all drunkards" as the "worst enemies of friends of repeal" and urged strict law enforcement to rid highways of irresponsible drivers.

The organization based its contention that highway deaths due to drinking had decreased since repeal on statistics showing a general decline in the motor vehicle death rate and a higher rate in some dry states today than in neighboring wet states.

It said figures assembled by the National Safety Council showed that in 1936 there were 21 deaths on the highways for every 10,000 gallons of gasoline consumed; while in 1933, a prohibition year, there were 22.

It published these figures for 1936 for adjoining wet and dry states: Nebraska, wet, 13.9, and Kansas, dry, 18.6; Kentucky, wet, 30.4, and Tennessee, dry, 31; Louisiana, wet, 26.4, and Mississippi, dry, 33.9; South Carolina, wet, 34.2, and Georgia, dry, 33; Texas, wet, 20.7, and Oklahoma, dry, 20.6.

AMERICAN LEADERS VIEW 1940 AS TIME FOR ARMS PARLEY

Await Conclusion of Wars in Spain and China, Czech Settlement.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Administration leaders are looking forward to the year 1940 as the time to sound out other nations on disarmament.

Meanwhile, although both President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull have recently stated this nation's willingness to join with other nations in disarming, officials believe there is not the slightest intention on the part of the administration to call a disarmament conference.

The political world is too agitated and big armament programs too well advanced to warrant the hope that a conference at this time would succeed, they say.

Why 1940? The reasons come under two general headings.

First: By then, officials hope, the Spanish war and the Sino-Japanese war will be over, the problem of Germany in Czechoslovakia settled, and the big powers on a friendly basis.

Secretary Hull contends political disarmament must precede military disarmament. He says: "Political and economic agreement is the basis; limitation and reduction of armaments is the result."

The second reason is that nations which signed the 1936 London naval treaty are pledged to consult during the year 1940. A conference on naval disarmament might well be embraced within a conference on general disarmament.

There may be a third reason, as potent as the other two. Presidential election comes in 1940. If the administration could take credit for calling a disarmament conference it would have a new basis for an appeal to peace-loving voters.

FOREIGN WAR VETS TO MEET IN OHIO

Vandiver and Van Dyke To Attend Encampment.

C. A. Vandiver, department commander, and William L. Van Dyke, national council member, and other Georgians will attend the 39th annual national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars August 21 to 26, at Columbus, Ohio, it was announced yesterday.

Speakers scheduled to address the encampment which is expected to attract 30,000 veterans and visitors, include Senator Josh Lee of Oklahoma; Herbert Bayard Swope, newspaper editor and correspondent; Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, director of the National Conference of Jews and Christians; and Herbert Agar, associate editor of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal.

Emphasis will be placed on national defense and legislation aimed at taking profit out of war.

NEVILLS EXPEDITION SIGNALS IT IS SAFE

Lone Fire at Foot of Tanner Trail Shows Second Lap Negotiated.

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., July 17.—(AP)—A lone fire at the foot of Tanner trail, 26 miles from here, signalled tonight the safe arrival of the Nevills expedition on the second lap of its projected boat trip down the treacherous Colorado river from Green River, Utah. The party of six left Lee's Ferry Wednesday afternoon.

Norman D. Nevills, who heads the party, had arranged previously with Forestry and Interior Department officials to signal by bonfire safe arrival at the foot of the trail. Two fires would have indicated the party was in distress.

The fire was sighted about 6 p. m. from a tower at Desert View Point on the rim of the canyon. Desert View is about three miles in a straight line from the expedition camp.

Barring any mishap at Hance Rapids, the party was expected by forestry officials to arrive at Kaibab bridge not later than tomorrow night.

North Georgians To Gather Here For George Motorcade to Griffin

Cars Will Assemble at Junction of Peachtree and Baker Tomorrow Morning and Proceed to Site of Senator's Second Campaign Speech.

Hundreds of north Georgians will assemble in Atlanta at the junction of Peachtree and Baker streets at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to join the Senator George motorcade to Griffin, where the senator will make the second address of his campaign for re-election at 11:30 o'clock.

The motorcade being formed by a citizens' committee, of which J. P. Allen, Atlanta merchant, is chairman, will move promptly at 9:30 o'clock from Baker street, proceeding on Peachtree to Whitehall, then on Stewart avenue to Hapeville, where it will pause briefly for motorists from East Point and College Park to fall in line, officials said.

One other stop, Jonesboro, will be made on the ride to Griffin. Many north Georgia cities are sending groups of motorists to join the motorcade in Atlanta. These include Gainesville, Buford, Athens, Lawrenceville, Canton and others.

Other motorcades from Newnan, LaGrange and Macon, will proceed directly from these cities to Griffin.

The senator will head the motorcade from Atlanta. He will be accompanied in his car by Mr. Allen, and Charles B. Grambling, president of the Georgia Federation of Labor, who will introduce the senator at Griffin.

The senator's speech will be broadcast at 11:30 o'clock, Atlanta time, over stations WSB of Atlanta, and WKBU of Griffin.

The Drum and Bugle corps of the LaGrange Sons of the Legion, will participate in the program preceding the speaking. A. B. Brooks is director.

EMORY EXPECTING BIG REGISTRATION IN SUMMER SCHOOL

Enrollment Will Commence
Wednesday; 2 Newcomers on Faculty.

Summer school enrollment at Emory University for the second quarter, which begins Thursday, is expected to exceed that of last year, it was announced yesterday by J. G. Stipe, registrar.

Enrollment for the first quarter was slightly larger than for the same period last year, and total figures for the two terms will exceed the total for 1937, Stipe's announcement said.

Registration for the second term begins Wednesday. Final examinations for the first term will be held Tuesday and Wednesday. The second term will end August 27, with final examinations scheduled for August 25 and 26.

Newcomers to the regular faculty, who will begin duties at the start of the second term, include Dr. Lewis H. Beck, assistant in philosophy, and Dowling Leatherwood, instructor in journalism.

Dr. Beck will replace Dr. Leroy Loecker, professor of philosophy, for the remainder of the summer. Leatherwood, for the past year a graduate assistant in journalism at the University of Wisconsin, will be a permanent member of the journalism faculty. He will assist during the summer with a special course in newspaper writing and editing, designed especially for high school teachers and advisers of school publications.

Visiting professors who will continue to give courses during the summer include: Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, of Georgia Tech; Dr. E. D. Shanks, of Birmingham-Southern; Professor Paul Pennington, of St. Petersburg (Fla.) Junior College; Miss Virginia McJenkin, supervisor of Fulton county school libraries, and Miss Helen Denham, of the University of Wisconsin.

Departments in which courses are offered include: Bible, biology, chemistry, economics, education, English, French, German, geology, history, journalism, Latin, library, physical science, philosophy, physics, political science, psychology and sociology.

Esophagus Gives Up Child's 'Lost' Nickel

Six-year-old Ray Tuggle, of Cedartown, lost a nickel Saturday, and ended up in an Atlanta hospital.

Ray lost the coin by swallowing it, and it lodged in his esophagus. He not only couldn't eat, but couldn't breathe either. So his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Tuggle, hurried him here, and the coin was removed with an esophagoscope at the Ponce de Leon Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Infirmary. Ray returned home yesterday, with the nickel. He says he is going to frame it.

REV. H. O. GREEN, 61, DIES; RITES TODAY

Funeral for Newborn Minister Will Be Conducted at Fairmount.

The Rev. H. O. Green, 61, a Methodist minister of Newborn, Ga., died here late Saturday night in a private hospital, after an illness of several weeks.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock (C. S. T.) this afternoon in Ryo Methodist church, Fairmount, Ga., with the Rev. T. M. Sullivan, presiding elder of the Decatur-Oxford district officiating, assisted by the Rev. W. A. Shelton and the Rev. Wallace Rogers. Burial will be in the churchyard, under the direction of H. M. Patterson and Son.

Born in Fairmount, the Rev. Green was ordained to the ministry in 1913. He held charges in Lafayette, Glenn, Lincoln, Carnesville, Jefferson, Cumming, Duluth, Elberton, Danielsville, Athens, Chocoma, Sugar Valley and Eatonton, before going to Newborn. He was educated at Fairmount Junior College.

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Bonnie Green, Athens; two sons, Rembert A. and H. O. Green Jr., Atlanta; a brother, J. N. Green, Jamison, Ala.; and a grandson, David Green.

Final Touches Put on Speedy Racer by Atlanta Boy

With only a few more days until the fifth annual Soap Box Derby sponsored by The Constitution and the Chevrolet Motor Company, Gilbert King puts the final touches on the speedy racer he hopes will carry him to fame. The J. P. Allen Company, his sponsor, has furnished him with all material necessary in making his car. Wednesday will be the last day boys can enter the derby. The finals will be held Saturday.

Decatur, East Point Derby Racers To Be Officially Weighed in Today

DeKalb District To Be Handled During Morning, Other During Afternoon; Cars Will Then Be Stored Until Day of Races.

Official weighing-in of racers in the Soap Box Derby will be held today in Decatur and East Point. Ample parking facilities will be provided for the thousands of people who are expected to attend.

A daily broadcast on the Derby may be heard over WGST at 6:30 o'clock each afternoon. The programs will continue until the day of the finals.

The entire race Saturday afternoon will be broadcast over WGST, with Frank Gaither and Johnnie Fulton, popular announcers, handling the microphone. The broadcast will be sponsored by the Nu-Grape Bottling Company, makers of "Nulife," a new health beverage to be put on the market this week.

The fourth zone final will be held tomorrow at Conyers. Another is scheduled in Marietta Wednesday, and the last of the series in Gainesville Friday.

The zone finalists will compete in the Atlanta finals. Winner of the northeast Georgia championship will get a free trip to Akron, Ohio, August 14 for the National Soap Box Derby finals, in addition to many prizes.

CAPTAIN HEDEKIN HURT IN POLO GAME

Fort McPherson Officer Falls
From Horse in First at Fort Oglethorpe.

Captain David Hedekin, of the Fort McPherson polo team, was seriously injured yesterday at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., as his team received a 6-to-5 defeat at the hands of the Fort Oglethorpe team.

Captain Hedekin fell from his horse in the first chukker. His foot caught in the stirrup and he was dragged a considerable distance. Post hospital officials said last night a first examination indicated a skull fracture, but they would not know definitely the extent of the injury until today.

Captain Hedekin has been stationed at Fort McPherson for the last three years, and is aide to General Robert O. Van Horn. Both he and his wife are widely known in army and civilian circles here.

'VICTIMIZED' BY SIX, HE GOES TO POLICE

Atlantan Says He Was 'Talked Out of $9.10' With Hard Luck Story.

A man who said he had been "victimized" by a family of six who "talked him out of $9.10" asked help of police yesterday in getting his money back.

George M. Brand, of 268 Butler street, S. E., reported he found a woman and four small children on the city hall lawn and felt sorry for them he bought them breakfast at a total cost of 60 cents.

Then the woman's husband appeared, Brand said, and put up a hard luck story about needing $1 for back room rent and $7.50 to get back to their home in Birmingham. Brand obligingly gave him the $8.50.

Brand said he was told later the same routine had been used on several other persons with varying degrees of success. Police said they would investigate.

THE STORY OF RUBBER.
I.—"TEARS OF THE WEEPING

As you read these words, how many things could you reach which are made of rubber or which contain rubber? It is safe to say that you will find at least one thing, maybe many.

Are there rubber heels on your shoes? Does your clothing have any rubber buttons? Is your fountain pen made largely of rubber? Elastic garters, raincoats and oversoes contain rubber. Golf balls and tennis balls are mainly rubber, and a "league" baseball contains a small amount of rubber around the cork. Automobile tires and many other fittings of the car are made of rubber.

All those things, and hundreds of others, have been made possible because certain trees and smaller plants produce juice of a special kind.

The most important rubber tree is the "Hevea." Although now widely grown in Africa and Asia, this tree is a native of tropical America. The Indians of Brazil used to call it by a name meaning "weeping tree," and the name came from milky juice which

On his second visit to the New World, Columbus saw Indians playing with rubber balls. He never before had seen a ball which would bounce. The Indians told him that the balls were made from the juice of trees. He took a few of the rubber balls back to Spain.

In later years, other Spaniards learned that Indians of Mexico also knew the use of rubber. They sometimes dipped cotton cloth in juice from a rubber tree, and turned the cloth into shoes of a sort.

In Brill the Portuguese found natives making use of rubber and for a long period Brazil became the center of the world's rubber production. It is true, however, that the rubber industry was not so sure, but a Scotsman found a way to make rainproof coats with the strange juice. His name was Charles Macintosh, and people often call him "Macintosh."

Hevea trees grew wild in hundreds of parts of the Amazon valley. White traders visited the forests, and obtained rubber in exchange for knives, hatchets, and other articles. The white traders built rude Indian-style huts to give them shelter while they were doing the trading. The shelters were little more than roofs. Since the sides were open, the forest could give.

PIG AND HOG RATIONS ARE FEATURED BY PURITAN MILLS

MY-T-PURE FEEDS CONTAIN RICH FOOD PRODUCTS OF SEA

Puritan Mills Interested in Promoting Better Hog-Feeding Programs.

The Puritan Mills are the manufacturer of My-T-Pure poultry, dairy and hog feeds containing manamar, the mineral rich food product of the sea. The product manamar which they use in their My-T-Pure feeds is a result of more than 30 years of research work on the part of its founder, Philip R. Park, to produce a product that would assist in the maintenance of flocks and herds in vigorous health while keeping up maximum production, making safe the high-speed feeding that is necessary under modern conditions.

The Puritan Mills have been manufacturing their My-T-Pure feeds containing manamar for the past three years and these feeds have made many friends with feeders in the southeastern and Carolina territory, where they have been distributed. Many testimonials are available not only in the territory where they are distributed but also in other parts of the United States where similar ration are in use.

Featuring Hog Ration.

The Puritan Mills are featuring extensively at this time their My-T-Pure pig and hog ration, containing this mineral rich food product from the sea, providing essential minerals and proteins in ample quantities for brood sows and growing pigs. The Puritan Mills are interested in promoting better feeding programs in the interest of hog raisers to enable them to get the most out of their pigs and hogs in conjunction with the available corn that is being produced in the southeastern area and it is with this in view that they have prepared especially their My-T-Pure pig and hog ration for growing young pigs and feeding brood sows, in addition they have prepared a special supplemental feed called their My-T-Pure pig and hog supplement, which is a high protein supplement that is also used by the feeder in conjunction with straight corn feeding. The following are a number of facts which they consider very important in this program for producing better pigs and hogs. They suggest in growing hogs for market the feeder should take the following factors under serious consideration at all times:

Factors to Consider.
1. Good Hogs: By this they mean a prolific strain of hogs of standard breeds that have been bred for rapid growth and economical gains that will market with weight and finish.

2. To follow sanitary methods in hog sanitation. Arrangements should always be made to provide sanitary pens at farrowing time and if possible to keep pigs on clean ground. Many common ailments

Where They Pack Lunch Baskets for Little Pigs

This is the final step in the manufacture of feed. The Puritan Mills employ modern equipment in the manufacture of their feeds. All ingredients must pass rigid inspection, and all completed feeds are carefully checked before packing by experienced employees.

ments have failed to show until a later date which definitely check the rate of growth are many times the direct results of unsanitary surroundings for the pigs at weaning age.

3. Good feed in sufficient quantities for rapid growth and finish which embody proper feeding of sows both before and after farrowing. The proper feeding of pigs dictates the rate of economy and gain, meaning a shorter time to market. Feeders should follow a feeding program that will enable them to avoid all possible dockage on soft hogs and a program that will enable them to finish quality hogs with firm fleshing.

State Pig Crop Up.

The above factors should be of a great deal of interest to pig raisers in the state of Georgia particularly, where the indications are there will be considerable heavier farrowing during the fall season this year than last, and as well in preparing for the fall market and the use of the Georgia crop corn this year, inasmuch as the indications are that the state pig crop this year is approximately up 21 per cent over 1936, according to the Georgia crop reporting service.

The Puritan Mills are also advocating the extensive use of the self-feeder system for feeding pigs and hogs with grain in conjunction with their pig and hog ration and their My-T-Pure pig and hog supplement, and they state that considerable less corn is required to produce equal gains with their prepared pig feeds under this system.

CONTROL IS LACKING.

Two tuxedo-garbed fishermen cast their lines on Beacon street, Brookline, Mass., about 2 o'clock in the morning. The lead sinker from one of their lines went through the plate-glass window of a nearby drug store. Whereupon the fishermen in disgust climbed into an automobile and drove away.

PACIFIC MUTUAL AGENCY MEETING

Fifteen Qualifying Agents
Go on 'Mystery' Trip
This Year.

The annual convention of the Georgia state agency of the Pacific Mutual, took the form of a "mystery" trip this year. The destination remained a secret until the hour of departure, as 16 qualified agents gathered in Atlanta for four days of fun and frolic. At the last minute, it was announced by General Agent Emory L. Jenks that Vogel National park would be the site of this year's outing.

These who attended were particularly fortunate in having as honor guest their agency supervisor, Walter R. Hoefflin, of Los Angeles, Cal., who brought a very inspiring message from the home office, with the production record of the first six months of 1938 showing a very substantial increase over the same period of last year.

Those who qualified for the trip in addition to Mr. Jenks and Mr. Hoefflin were Paul Burt, Ralph Williams, Harold Williams, Oliver Nix, J. H. Shulenberg, Walter Rountree, Charlie Harrell, Bob Cook, John Morrison and Arthur Lippold, from Atlanta; S. J. Thompson, of Savannah; H. E. Thompson, of Blue Ridge; R. M. Hays, of Macon; C. D. Hunt, of Columbus; and C. R. Cox, of Register.

TIME PASSES SLOWLY.

When Ketterlin Brothers, Santa Rosa, Cal., hardware men, received an order for mesh wire from a ranchman quoting prices in one of their newspaper advertisements, they were a bit puzzled by the prices. Investigation developed that the ad had been clipped from a local paper of 28 years ago.

DELTA AIR LINES HAS UNSURPASSED FLYING RECORDS

One of World's Oldest Aviation Companies; Offices at 91 Forsyth Street.

An important and forward step for Atlanta was made when the Delta Air Lines system operations and maintenance base were removed to Atlanta, simultaneously with the inauguration of a second daily flight between Atlanta and Dallas, and a third daily round-trip between Atlanta and Birmingham, on July 1, 1935.

By this move Atlanta gained 73 new residents, and an annual payroll and local company purchases of over $500,000. Also, in Atlanta, at 91 Forsyth street, N. W., Delta headquarters its district traffic, or sales office, which has supervision over the territory from Birmingham to Charleston.

Delta Air Lines is one of the world's oldest aviation companies. It was founded in 1924 at Americus, Ga., and has been under the same management since that time. The company was organized as the Huff-Dayland Duster for boll weevil control, and the next year moved to Monroe, La., its present administrative headquarters. Subsequently, it became known as the Delta Air Corporation, but always the same management has remained in charge.

Pioneer Passenger Service.

Although a conservative operator, once an idea has been thoroughly proven itself as practical, Delta Air Lines has been quick to adopt it. Passenger service was pioneered by this company from Birmingham to Dallas, on a tri-weekly basis, as early as 1928. This service was established with single motored, six-place Travelairs, and was extended into Atlanta in 1929. The entire route from Atlanta to Dallas was flown without a mail contract, but, nevertheless when Delta Air Lines entered Atlanta it offered its service on a daily basis.

When the airmail contract was offered in 1930 on the southern transcontinental route, Delta was an unsuccessful bidder and suspended passenger transport operations. However, when the new airmail contracts were offered in 1934, Delta Air Lines was the successful bidder.

On July 4, 1934, Delta Air Lines established airmail operations between Atlanta and Dallas, and, also, extended its airmail route to Charleston, S. C. Passenger and express service, in addition to the established airmail, was inaugurated over the whole new line from Charleston, via Atlanta, to Dallas on August 4, 1934, with one flight a day in each direction.

Extends Service.

Flying time between Atlanta and Dallas was reduced to six hours, approximately one-third less than previous schedules, on January 1, 1936, with the introduction by Delta Air Lines of Lockheed Electra all-metal, twin-motored, 10-passenger transports, sister-ships to the world famous globe-girdling plane of Howard Hughes and "Dick" Merrill's round-trip trans-Atlantic flight. These dependable Lockheed planes were made standard equipment for the line when they were placed in service a short time later on containing MANAMAR, the mineral rich product of the sea, supplies the essential minerals in ample quantities to brood sows for safety and profit in pigs farrowed and raised. You MUST RAISE FOUR of each litter to break even. You CAN SAVE MORE pigs from every litter when you feed MY-T-PURE PIG & HOG RATION. FEED BROOD SOWS before farrowing MY-T-PURE PIG & HOG RATION with MANAMAR. Allow each sow one pound of this feed daily for each 100 lbs. of live weight.

HAVE YOUR PIGS READY FOR THE NEW CORN CROP MY-T-PURE PIG & HOG RATION

IMPORTANT FOR GROWTHY PROFIT MAKING PIGS

Provide a creep to run to after they are two weeks old and up to the time they are weaned. They should have free access to a supply of MY-T-PURE PIG & HOG RATION. This will prevent the sow being milked off too heavily and build larger framed pigs.

Growing and Fattening Pigs

Feed MY-T-PURE PIG & HOG RATION. Use preferably the free choice method for economical gains up to 125 pounds in weight. Pigs 125 pounds to 150 pounds weight, add 10% ground grain; 150 pounds to 175 pounds weight, add 20% ground grain; 175 pounds to 225 pounds, add 40% ground grain, or feed shelled corn in proportion or simply keep shelled corn and Pig and Hog Ration before pigs at all times in self feeder after pigs reach 125 pounds in weight.

Write us for free copy of plan for self feeder recommended by the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

Second Generation

Playmates in Rich's Nursery!

TWINS...beautiful fat ones...discovered playing in Rich's Nursery! We thought they looked familiar...and suddenly we remembered ANOTHER baby...their mother played here when SHE was a little girl!

And so...a SECOND generation begins at Rich's...life goes on...and hundreds of people who work here in this great business organization make a smiling acquaintance with two more young Atlantans.

Business takes on a neighborly feeling when you've served the same families for almost three-quarters of a century. One generation follows another...back to Rich's...back to the place of old tradition...back to the business of Friendliness.

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

Hollywood Today

By SHEILAH GRAHAM.

HYDE PARK—It is extraordinary to think that one can make a flight around the world in 3 days and 19 hours. The people at Floyd Bennett Field evidently greeted Howard Hughes and his crew with great enthusiasm and I can well imagine the wild scene when the fliers were driven through New York. When one reads the account of the landing, one realizes that the families waiting for these men must have felt they were shoved aside, for a mass of people engulfed the fliers as soon as the plane came to a stop. I suppose every new achievement in aviation seems to bring a greater thrill, because we feel that with each step forward new possibilities are opened.

At lunch yesterday, some friends came whose chief interest in life is the Spanish situation and its implications for the rest of the world. There was a time, I imagine, when whatever a nation did concerned it alone, but that time is past and now everybody feels repercussions from whatever happens to any other nation.

The children listened to all the talk at table with a certain amount of interest, but they retired quite willingly for their rest period. When that was over, they hung around with that expectant expression which means there is something which we want you to do and we wish you wouldn't cease talking about things which are not really important. I knew that they were longing to go in swimming, so I invited my guests to join us. They, however, decided to leave and the rest of us played around the pool until supper time.

WPA seems to have become one of the most important factors in the clothing industry. I am very glad that surplus stocks are being bought for distribution to relief families. Mr. Hopkins, I see, says that it will help industry, but I know that it will also help a great many people.

Relief allowances in most cases barely cover rent and food. In some places, necessary medical attention can be obtained, but only in emergencies. Such things as teeth and eyes, which do not need immediate attention but are very important to good health, go by the board both for adults and children. Clothes are important not only for the sake of modesty and protection in our variable climate, but also if one is looking for a job, and most of these people are. Work is not found so easily when a shirt is frayed, a coat is threadbare and shoes are worn through.

I haven't seen anything yet about shoes being a part of this rehabilitation program, but I am sure that industry needs assistance too. Shoes certainly are one of the things that nearly all people on relief rolls find hard to buy.

TODAY'S CHARM TIP

It's smart today to be generous of mind and heart. Look for the good points in people and overlook their faults.

For Mrs. Donelan.

In compliment to her daughter, Mrs. William P. Donelan, of Columbia, S. C., Mrs. Esther Martin entertained at tea Friday at her home on Virginia avenue.

Arrangement of garden flowers were used in the reception room and in the dining room the tea table was centered with a silver bowl of roses and delphinium.

Mrs. Martin was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. A. A. Lyon and Miss Islyn Barker.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondents should send their letters in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield in care The Constitution.

Most of the transitions in this life slip up on us before we are prepared for them and it isn't surprising that so many mothers are thrown for a loop when they discover that their little girls are beginning to be boy-conscious. Teethers, toddlers, first-graders and before you can snake a stick the little girls have reached 'teen age. These adolescents seem hardly more than babies to fond parents who haven't realized the change.

Yet it is almost as important for mothers to be prepared for this time as it was for them to be ready with the bassinet and layette on another great occasion. If mother doesn't plan a safe, sane social life for her adolescent girls, she is going to bring on tears, talk and temperamental maladies which will tax her wits and try her patience. One of the wisest women of my acquaintance, one who did a bang-up job on her own daughters, says that she looks with astonishment on the young mothers and fathers who are so taken up with their own social life that they are careless about the all-important matter of making provision for the social life of their youngsters.

Says she "Mother should have a place for her own life for the boys and girls to gather, a place where they won't feel constrained and repressed as they do in the presence of the grown-ups. The youngsters are timid and self-conscious. They don't know their way around and it's mother's business to woo them out of this fearful attitude. The boys are timid and, however much they may like a girl, they won't go to her home to see her if the going isn't made easy and comfortable. When the grown-ups take the only sitting room in the house, leaving the youngsters to make out as best they can, the inevitable result is that they will gather at homes where the mother has been more considerate and provided a place for them.

"Second," if a mother wants her daughter's friends to come to her home she should say her welcome with food—any sort of food. The young things enjoy the informality of the pantry and the kitchen. They love to raid the ice box and find something that is put there for them to eat. When they enjoy this sort of hospitality they are ready to make friends with the grown-ups who have provided it. Even the young boys enjoy informally that when the food is set out for them they are expected back and the chances are that they will come back.

Third, mother shouldn't take on the burden of entertaining the youngsters. They aren't there to be entertained by her. If she crowds them she will scare them off. The hospitality she extends is proof of her friendliness. Her mere presence in the house is sufficient chaperonage and the boys and girls that accept it will gradually make friends with her.

Mothers, face the music, the normal girl in her early teens has boys on the brain and you must do something about it; either accept the fact and co-operate with her to make it safe and sane experience or refuse to co-operate and take the consequences which are usually sly dates, clandestine letters and runaway marriages, or worse.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

HOLLYWOOD, July 17—Anita Louise, like every other feminine star in Hollywood now, finds her best fashion-minded audience at Hollywood park (Inglewood race track). Lunching last Saturday at the Turf Club, Anita wore a print dress of brown and white crepe, styled with a drape front caught in at the waistline with a tie of self fabric. Her chalk white turban sported a topaz and gold clip at the front, matching the pair at the neckline.

Bette Davis watched the horses in an afternoon print of emerald green, splashed with gay-colored flowers in coral, apricot, black and sapphire blue. The front of her dress had sunburst pleats caught together at the natural waist with a belt of the same fabric and finished at the front with a band of blue suede. Her necklace, a band of gold with balls of coral across the front; hat, of emerald green balltulle with a tailored grosgrain bow of sapphire blue; gloves and bag, of soft antelope matching the front of her belt.

Jeanette MacDonald has bought enough quilted jackets to last her into old age. Some are vest, and others, hip length. The jackets, of imported challis, are quilted in squares entirely by hand and are done in bright peasant prints designed to top plain-colored frocks.

Myrna Loy has more charm bracelets than you can shake a stick at. Her latest is completely Hollywood in origin. Of green gold, the bracelet consists of a miniature motion picture camera, a projection machine, a film tin, a make-up box, which opens to disclose tiny fittings in gold, a portable dressing room with a diamond star on the door, an arc light, a script, and a miniature counterpart of the front of the MGM studios.

Olivia de Havilland and Gloria Dickson are reviving the shirt-maker dresses of a couple of seasons ago. Gloria's pleated blouse is of periwinkle blue crepe roma, with a band of stitching forming the yoke. The flared navy blue skirt is joined to the waist with a broad patent leather belt. Her natural leghorn hat is trimmed with grosgrain ribbon and features a veil draped under the chin. Olivia's shirt-maker is an odd combination of materials—a full skirt of black-ribbed bagheera, topped with a shirtwaist of cream-fitted linen and a tie of bright-colored wool challis and clasp of gold. To go with the outfit is a bonnet of natural straw with black grosgrain band and flimsy veil, a pair of heavy gold bracelets, white suede gloves, black bag and shoes.

Joan Perry's summer wardrobe shows a decided Aztec influence—the bodice of one dress has a narrow apron of yellow embroidered in motifs of that period, while the skirt is of orange cotton crash and boasts of the same motif as on the bodice. Joan's hat of natural straw has a high crown and wide brim laced with brilliant yarns.

Margaret Lindsay, at a recent golf tournament, wore a new version of the sweater dress. The long, hip-length, form-fitting sweater, a handknit of navy blue yarn, the broad belt of red and blue leather, gave her a nautical air. The skirt of white silk and linen had pleats in front. Her belt of navy blue yarn was topped with a pom-pom of white.

Hollywood Fashions on Parade . . . Ruby Keeler broadcasting in a navy wool jacket with a box-pleated skirt, white blouse, large red carnation, and broad-rimmed navy felt hat with red band . . . Mary Livingstone, at one of her numerous birthday parties, wore a white gown painted with red fans, ruby ring and ruby and diamond brooch . . . Janet Gaynor, at the Hollywood park race track, in green skirt, green plaid tattered jacket . . . Also Constance Bennett, in a dark blue suit with red blouse . . . Joan Benny, four-year-old daughter of Jack, hostess of a circus party in a pink net dress with short, fluffy sleeves and blue sash.

Miss Kathryn Roby Honored at Shower.

Mrs. D. R. Longino Jr. entertained Miss Kathryn Roby, bride-elect, with a miscellaneous shower Saturday afternoon at her home on Parkway drive.

The silver bridal slipper decorations were used in the reception room. Each guest was presented with a bridal slipper on which was written her name. In the center of the table was silver slipper filled with white lilies of the valley, Easter lilies and tuberoses tied with white tulle ribbon. The same decorations were carried out in the refreshments.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pollock, sister of the hostess, assisted in entertaining.

Invited guests were Mesdames Gwynne Davidson, Louise Taylor, Walter Long, E. H. Baggus, Kathryn Lanford, Betty Ellis, Helen Jones, Elizabeth Pollock, W. D. Owens, Mary Fligg, Elizabeth Parker, Mary B. Iawett, W. R. Lester, Mary Bryson and Misses Clio Dixon, Marie Chaffee, Mildred Butler and Kathleen Glisson.

Revellers Meet.

The Revellers, a newly formed club of Lenox Park and Johnson Estates, met recently at Pine Lake with Martha Plunkett as hostess.

Anita Louise recently appeared at Hollywood's Inglewood track attired in this print dress of brown and white crepe, the drape front caught in at the waistline with a tie of self fabric. On her chalk-white turban was a topaz and gold clip, matching the pair she wore at the neckline.

PLEASANT HOMES

By ELIZABETH M'RAE BOYKIN

While spread and curtains with bands cut from a floral striped linen.

"We're going to get married as soon as our new home is finished," writes O. W. B. "And I want to have the Venetian blinds for the living room and a walnut suite for the front bedroom. I have not selected the rest of the furniture, so would appreciate your suggestions. I want Venetian blinds for the front of the house. What color should they be? What material and color for curtains, and should they be tied back or hung straight? What about accessories and furniture coverings?"

The Answer.

With the white walls and taupe rug in your living room, we'd like a tomato red slip cover for the sofa you select. Then a pair of wing chairs in a dusty leaf green. At the windows have tied-back curtains of chintz or cretonne with a white ground and a splashy pattern in tomato red and green. Have the Venetian blinds painted white and get white lamps. For odd accessories, use pewter or some of the new aluminum alloys that are shown in hand hammered effects—this will tie the deep grey tones of the rug into the picture. You might add a secretary desk in walnut for the long unbroken wall. Put the sofa opposite between the two windows with the wing chairs flanking it. What about a really nice plant stand to go in front of the wide front windows? Don't forget plenty of occasional tables.

White With Flowers.

For the walnut bedroom furniture, why not use white pique curtains and spreads finished with bands cut from a dramatic floral striped linen or cretonne? (Be sure it's fast color). Flowered scatter rugs would be pretty here and lamps with shades made out of the flowered linen.

For the back bedroom, you might have white painted furniture—with pink rag rugs and pink and white checked gingham curtains and spreads made with wide ruffles cut on a bias.

The dining alcove adjoining the living room would be brightened with a solid green linoleum floor, blond walnut furniture with tomato red seats and curtains to match those in the living room.

And we hope you live happy ever after in that gay little house.

Miss Perry Marries Herman D. James.

ROME, Ga., July 17.—Mr. and Mrs. William Perry, of Balboa, Canal Zone, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Evelyn, to Herman D. James, of Atlanta, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. James, of Rossville. The ceremony was solemnized at St. Mary's rectory here, the Rev. Father James Grady reading the nuptial mass.

Miss Peggy Perry was her sister's only attendant. Raymond James, of Trion, served as his brother's best man.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. James will reside in Atlanta where Mr. James is with the Ford Automobile Company.

The bride has been residing in Rome with her aunt, Mrs. W. S. Horan.

CUT DOWN ON THE FUEL FOODS TO KEEP COOL.

The picture of the jolly fat man disconsolately mopping his brow in the good old summertime is typical of the combination of hot weather and avoirdupois. Surplus fat interferes with the escape of excess heat from the body, and, more than anyone else, the overweight is thankful for air-conditioning.

In the hot weather all of us should go on a lighter diet, but it is especially advisable for the fat person to do so. Not only should the overweight stop adding to his subcutaneous fat, but he should also cut down on the heat-producing foods to lessen his discomfort.

All food supplies fuel—calories—but some foods produce considerably more of these heat units than others. Fats, sugars, starches and proteins are the fuel foods and are, therefore, the ones to curtail in the summer menus. You should avoid rich gravy roasts, fried foods and heavy desserts. These fuel-producing foods contribute to the body warmth, and in hot weather there is no reason for eating to maintain body heat.

The protein particularly should be kept fairly low in the summer diet. Because of its specific dynamic action, protein gives off more heat during digestion and makes you feel warmer. An excess of heat is too "heating" in the summer time.

Although fats do not cause this immediate discomfort they ultimately give off the most calories and an excess should be avoided by the overweight person. One ounce of fat contains 255 calories, while one ounce of either protein or carbohydrate (starch and sugar) yield only 113 calories. In terms of food, this means that butter is twice as fattening as the same amount of sugar and that cream is more than twice as fattening than milk. One cup of thin cream contains 440 calories, while one cup of whole milk contains only 160 calories. Skimming the milk to delete all fat leaves only 80 calories per glass and skim milk or buttermilk is an excellent summer drink.

Since sugar furnishes heat, your cool drinks will be more cooling if they do not contain too much sweetening. Fresh orange juice, and grapefruit juice make good summer drinks, being low in calories and high in the needed Vitamin C.

Hot weather and excess fat—an uncomfortable combination.

The temperature of the food or beverage has, eventually, nothing to do with its heat production. It's an old Chinese custom to drink hot tea to cool off. By comparison, a chocolate soda would seem very much cooling, but really it makes you much warmer. Iced coffee, served with liberal cream and sugar, is far more heating than hot coffee with very little sugar or cream. And, of course, the more calories a food contains, the more fattening it is.

When you stop to consider that at this season nature supplies us with foods which are very low in fuel, it is foolish to stick to a diet burdened with heat-producing foods. Your summer menus should contain liberal quantity of salads, fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, milk, and no heavy foods.

Exquisite Floral Scents Redolent With Perfume of Fresh Flowers

By LILLIAN MAE.

Flowers it is this season—flowers, flowers everywhere! Flowers in our hair, flowers on our shoulders, flowers on our hats—even flowers on our evening slippers.

It's all too much for a French perfumer who is never out of step—in fact, he is usually a few steps ahead in every situation.

He has brought out just the most darling packages; lovely flasks of lilac, sweet pea, mimosa, magnolia and honeysuckle perfumes anchored or ivory base and encased in transparent towers covered with flowers and fern in natural colors—giving the effect of a lovely bottle nestled in a beautiful rock garden.

When this transparent tower is lifted and the stopper taken from the bottle, the air is filled with the perfume of fresh flowers, so heavily laden is the perfume with the fragrance of the flowers, the leaves and the vine.

The lilac—emblem of youth—is gay, fresh, adventurous—appropriate for early morning golf, afternoon tea, or under-the-moon dancing.

Magnolia—magnificent and luxurious—seems to breathe all the elegance and charm of old white-

CONSERVATIVE TREATMENT OF SINUSITIS.

One nose and throat specialist who was not born a specialist but achieved his skill in that field through wide experience in general practice, informs me he has never been able to employ diathermy for the extirpation of tonsils, perhaps, as he concedes, because he has never mastered the technique of the method. On the other hand he has found diathermy (electro-coagulation, electro-desiccation, electro-surgery, endothermy) most gratifying advancement in the treatment of sinusitis; so much preferable to the older surgical measures that it has become the method of choice in his practice.

The inference I draw from this competent specialist's view is that the surgical treatment of sinusitis is not so good as the half-baked, inexperienced "specialists" of Yankeealand would have unwary wisecracks think. What I mean by half-baked and inexperienced is that the majority of so-called specialists in this country today are without any solid foundation of general experience. I call these trick specialists "brass specialists"—and I tell the world they're the curse of medicine in America.

In making the advisability of conservative treatment I do not mean to say that surgery is never necessary or advisable, nor that diathermy is always preferable to more radical surgical operation. My purpose is merely to warn the public against the pretensions of charlatans. Most of these shrewd merchants who hold themselves out to the public as "specialists" would starve if they had to depend on the confidence and respect of the community to call them into consultation in difficult cases or to refer patients to them for their advice.

In long standing cases of sinusitis the thyroid gland function seems to become exhausted. This calls for either the iodine ration or, if the patient's temperature is below the normal 98 between 4 and 6 p. m. daily, small daily doses of thyroid extract—the thyroid extract should be discontinued if or when the body weight shows a loss or the pulse rate, which has been below 90 a minute, rises above the patient is at rest. 30 drops of thyroid extract can be safely used in this way only under the observation of the physician.

The general hygiene, diet, clothing, ventilation, sunshine, air-conditioning, heating, constitutional remedies advisable for sufferers from chronic respiratory diseases such as chronic bronchitis, and we'll consider these factors in a separate chapter on bronchitis. Regular or systematic use of sprays, douches, irrigations or suction is as likely to harm as it is to help. Such treatment should be restricted to occasions or periods when the physician specifically prescribes it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Dangerous Drug.

Kindly tell me about benzidine sulphate tablets. How will they affect a pregnant woman. Any information about these tablets will be appreciated. (Mrs. E. L. C.)

Answer—Benzidine is far too powerful a drug for any layman to monkey with. It would be as dangerous to use it without your physician's advice as it is to use morphine or strychnine.

Food in the Can.

Friend horrified at our unorthodox habit of leaving certain canned foods in the can in the refrigerator for hours or days before we consume them. She insists that health authorities warn against that as a dangerous practice. (E. E. P. and Family.)

Answer—Nonsense. If the can is a fit container before it is opened, it is just as fit after it is opened. Your friend probably harbors imaginations about "ptomaine" poisoning—a few backwoods "health authorities" still foster such phobias.

Monorchidism.

Please tell me if a man who has had one testicle removed can have children? (D. M.)

Answer—The loss of one testicle or ovary has no effect on virility or fecundity, potency or fertility, provided the remaining organ is intact. That's why nature provides the spare.

Miss Allen Gives Recital This Evening.

The Atlanta Conservatory of Music will present Miss Elizabeth Allen, pupil of Mrs. John William Ware, in a piano recital at Mrs. Ware's home, 39 Huntington road, at 8:30 o'clock this evening.

Miss Allen received her diploma from the conservatory in 1933. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon Honor Music Sorority. For the past year she has been pianist with the Atlanta Philharmonic orchestra.

Miss Allen will open her program with Bach's "French Suite in E Major," playing the "Allemande," "Courante," "Sarabande" and "Gigue." This will be followed by an all-Brahms group, including "Intermezzo in A major," "Intermezzo in C major" and "Rhapsody in B minor."

Her third group will include "Etude in E major," Chopin; "Prelude in G major," Liszt; and "Prelude in A minor," Debussy. She will close her program with a performance of the entire "Concerto in A minor," by Grieg. Charles Johnson will play the orchestra score for the concerto at the second piano.

Bridge Lite

By HAROLD SHARPSTEEN

This is the first of a special series of articles explaining, in simple language, how to recognize and execute the squeeze. A day by day analytical description of the essential elements of the squeeze will follow in logical sequence.

To intelligently plan and protect a squeeze play, it is first necessary to know when to try for a squeeze as a last resort in attempting to fulfill a contract, and to thoroughly understand precisely what happens at the point of actual application.

Under ordinary circumstances a squeeze should not be attempted when it is conceivable to fulfill the contract by simpler methods of trick-taking as ruffing, discarding, finessing.

Nothing Is Lost.

The time to try for a squeeze is when there is no other conceivable way to make the contract.

Then, if the squeeze fails, nothing has been lost in trying, for you have first made certain the contract was apparently doomed to failure anyway. As for example:

(Dummy)
S-K 6 5 3
H-A J
D-K Q 4 3
C-A J 2

West
S-A Q 7 8 7 2
H-None
D-A J 10 7
C-5 4 3
(Declared)

The contract is seven spades and the opening lead by West is the heart king.

Two Club Losers.

Declarer's appraisal of the two hands reveals two club losers. One can be discarded on dummy's heart ace. But what to do with the other club loser is the problem.

It cannot possibly be eliminated by ruffing or discarding. Will a finesse save the contract? Let us see.

If East holds either the club king or queen the finesse will fail. If West holds both, he will play one to force dummy's ace and his second club honor will defeat the contract.

Squeeze Play Only Hope.

To the inexperienced player there seems no hope but the advanced player recognizes a possibility. If one opponent must protect winning cards in two suits, he may be forced to discard one of them thereby converting a losing card in dummy or declarer's hand to the rank of winner.

When declarer understands the simple mechanics of the squeeze nothing can be lost by trying.

'Til tomorrow—

Show Boat Setting Is Planned For Theater Guild's Carnival

By Sally Forth.

THE interior of a gay and colorful show boat during carnival time will form the setting for the "Bohemian Night" party to be staged on Friday evening by the Theatre Guild at its home, "The Castle," on Fifteenth street.

Gay and colorful lights will encircle the room and will lend an air of festivity to the occasion, as will novel arrangements of flowers in Bohemian style. The "Show Boat" motif will be further carried out by an attractive display of nautical pictures and maps.

There will be a bar where delicious refreshments will be served. Feminine members of the guild will wear colorful Bohemian peasant costumes and will act as flower vendors and bar maids, winding their way among the guests during the program.

The program will be presented on the special dance floor to be erected in the garden overlooking Fifteenth street. A grand program will be presented, including specialty numbers by Mrs. Joe Brown, who is a native of France; "Eugene and Mildred," that popular dance pair from New York, and songs by the "Barber Shop" quartet. There will be a gypsy fortune teller to intrigue the guests with her forecast of their future lives, and an orchestra playing tuneful Bohemian music.

Paula Causey and Vernon Williams are chairmen for the carnival, and acting as co-chairmen are Martha de Golan and Dorothy Bolton. Assisting them are Elizabeth Buchanan, Dorothy Harburt, Sidney Owen and Mrs. T. J. Swift.

FROM faraway Russia comes news of the arrival of little Benedict Joseph Dulaski II, whose mother will be remembered as the former Virginia Cunningham of Atlanta, Virginia, you know, is a talented musician who has made her home in Russia for several years, and her marriage on Christmas Day in 1936 at the American embassy in Moscow was one of the best bits of news Sally was privileged to announce to Virginia's Atlanta friends.

The baby was born on May 8 in Finland, but is now with his mother at the American embassy where his parents make their home. His father is a member of the American embassy staff in Moscow.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Cunningham of Atlanta, are the maternal grandparents of young Benedict, and his paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dulaski, of Hatfield, Mass. Virginia met her husband during her studies at the Moscow Conservatory of Music and since her marriage has continued her work. With the arrival of her young son it is a safe bet that the music will be only secondary.

Semi-Annual Meet Of Women Voters Set for Wednesday

The semi-annual meeting of the Atlanta League of Women Voters will be held Wednesday at 10:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's Club, according to announcement by Mrs. J. D. Thomas, league director.

Brief reports will be given on membership by Mrs. J. C. Blacklock; on finance, by Mrs. Calvin Sandison, and on League activities, by Mrs. Leonard Hays. Mrs. J. D. Thomas, chairman of government and its operation, will discuss important happenings in local government and will compare the proposed expenditure for Atlanta and Fulton county in the federal spending and lending program with the recommendations of Dr. Thomas H. Reed.

Mrs. R. L. Turman, legislative chairman for the State League of Women Voters, will speak on Georgia's political problems. Mrs. Irwin T. Hyatt, legislative chairman for the Atlanta League, will speak on national legislation from the League's point of view.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock. Mrs. James Selva, chairman of arrangements, has named the following on her hospitality committee: Mesdames F. O. Brooks, George S. Dring, Charles Liebman, Knowles Davis, John Bredford, Logan Bleckley Jr., O. W. George, Wheeler Simmons, Phillip Jackson, W. F. Boland, D. E. Clark and A. D. Arensmann.

In 1868, C. L. Sholes, Wisconsin newspaperman known as "father of the typewriter," obtained his first patent on a writing machine. The first typewriter was made for the blind; Sholes' machine was a development of this device.

MISS ALMA MARTIN.

Miss Alma Martin, of 13 Peachtree place, N.E., was elected grand president of Phi Chi Theta, women's national commerce fraternity, at the biennial convention held recently in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Miss Martin has made her home in Atlanta for more than 10 years, and is connected with the Atlanta office of the American Radiator Company. She is a graduate of the Georgia Tech Evening School of Commerce, and as an undergraduate she was actively connected with this fraternity. Miss Martin has twice been president of the alumnae group and was president of the national chapter.

Phi Chi Theta has 22 collegiate chapters in schools of commerce, universities and colleges of the United States. These are, together with the 14 alumnae chapters organized in commercial centers of the nation, striving to make the careers of women in business more successful and better recognized.

Other officers chosen to lead the fraternity's work for the next two years are: First grand vice president, Miss Frances R. Murray, Verona, N. Y.; second grand vice president, Miss Phyllis Buck, Madison, Wis.; third grand vice president, Miss Phyllis Gornly, Los Angeles, Cal.; national inspector, Miss Elida Jensen, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Miss Lenora Houseworth became the bride of Melvin T. Gordon at a beautiful afternoon ceremony solemnized yesterday at 5 o'clock at the East Point Baptist church. The Rev. M. A. Cooper, pastor of the West End Baptist church, read the marriage service.

A musical program was presented during the assembling of the wedding guests by Mrs. W. G. Grant, organist, and Miss Ruth Carlton, soloist. The interior of the church was decorated for the nuptials with white urns filled with white gladioli, and cathedral candelabra holding tall white tapers against a background of palms and ferns massed against the rear of the altar.

The ushers were Jack Turner, Harold Bailey, Jim Freeman, Ralph Hall and Clifford Berry. Robert Gordon acted as best man for the groom.

The bride's maid of honor was Miss Martha Albright and the bridesmaids included Miss Lucy Carlton of Ducktown, Tenn.; Miss Helen Harding, of Douglasville; Misses Rosemary Arnold and Rebecca Little. Little Miss Betty Lowry was the flower girl and Bobby Lowry was the ring-bearer.

The bride's attendants wore picturesque gowns of pastel-tinted organza and old-fashioned poke bonnets. Their flowers were nosegays of multicolored garden flowers.

The lovely bride was given in marriage by her brother, Hugh Houseworth. She presented a beautiful picture in her bridal robes of white silk net over a foundation of taffeta, with a long-length veil of tulle. Her flowers were bride's roses.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the future residence of the bride couple at 3213 Oakdale road in Hapeville. Mr. Gordon and his bride left for a short wedding journey.

Miss Helen Johnson Weds Mr. Donaghey In Washington, D. C.

ROME, Ga., July 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Linder Johnson announce the marriage of their oldest daughter, Helen Lee, formerly of Atlanta, to Joseph Donaghey, of Washington, D. C. The ceremony was solemnized Monday, July 11, in St. Gabriel cathedral, Washington.

Mrs. John W. Myers, of Bedford, Va., accompanied the bride to Washington and was present at the marriage ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Donaghey left immediately after the ceremony for Atlantic City and other New Jersey resorts. They will reside at 4923 Ninth street, Washington, after August 1. Mr. Donaghey for many years has been on the staff of the Washington Star.

The bride for the past several years has made her home in Atlanta, where she was connected with the Rawson Morrill Advertising, Inc. She was secretary of the Atlanta Professional and Business Women's Club.

Mrs. Donaghey has an A. B. degree from the Henry Grady School of Journalism, University of Georgia, and is working toward an M. A. degree at American University, Washington. She met her husband several years ago at press conference in Washington.

The bride is one of a group of lovely sisters, including Miss Gladys Johnson, Miss Mary Johnson, Miss Miriam Johnson and Miss Jane Johnson. Her brothers are Robert and William Johnson. She is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Millard Davis, of Floyd county, originally from Henry county, Virginia. Her paternal grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Hillyer Johnson, of Rome. On her paternal side she is related to the Johnson and Wood families of South Carolina and the May and Barfield families of Virginia and England.

Mr. Donaghey was educated in England but has made his home in Washington for a number of years. His parents are prominently connected in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stephens Walker, following their marriage, which was a recent brilliant event at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Mr. Walker is the former Miss Elmer Wilkinson and she and Mr. Walker have returned from their wedding trip and are residing on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Crackers Whip Rocks Twice, 5-4, 6-4, Lead by 6 1-2 Games

YATES, T. BARNES BEATS MULHERIN AND ZIMMERMAN

Many Golfers Get in Practice Round for State Amateur.

By ROY WHITE.
A championship foursome—Charlie Yates, British Amateur champion; Frank Mulherin, the defending Georgia champion; Tommy Barnes, Atlanta's open champion; and Bill Zimmerman, Georgia's 1935 champion—stole the show and led the practice parade over the Druid Hills course Sunday afternoon.

It was the first of two days of practice, preliminary to the annual qualifying round Tuesday morning. Final practices will be played today.

Only Yates, twice former Georgia champion, will not be entered in the state this week. Yates is beginning practice for the National Amateur, his next big venture, and was just renewing some former acquaintances in Sunday's practice round.

Yates and Barnes, beat Mulherin and Zimmerman, the Augusta sharpshooters, 2-1, but the visitors came out on the long end of the wagers for the refreshments.

PAR GOLF.
Par golf was the best any member of the foursome could do, and neither was more than two strokes from perfect figures.

An unusually large crowd of out-of-town entries shared the spotlight Sunday and already very large city in the state and most of the smaller ones are well represented.

Macon and Savannah, usually with only one entry each has sent a strong delegation and have already entered for the team trophy.

South Georgia also is well represented, as is North Georgia. Johnny Oliver, a former state champion; Dot McKee, runner-up in the 1937 Radium Springs Invitation; Billy Eager, medalist in the Southern Amateur, and W. L. Goodloe Sr., and his son, make up the early contingent from Valdosta.

EARLY ARRIVALS.
Frank Mulherin, the champion; Dick Mulhearn, the 1937 medalist; Dick Daniels, G. E. Dickinson, Bill Zimmerman, a former winner, and B. P. Johnson, are early arrivals from Augusta.

From Savannah, Hudson Boyd, Harvey Ferrell Jr., Chester Warner and Ellison Council, checked in with practice rounds Sunday.

Arnold Blum, the G. I. A. A. champion last year, heads a group from Macon. Others from the central city are Bill Cunningham and Peyton Jones.

Jennings Gordon, runner-up in the Southern Amateur at Ponte Vedra; Alvin Everett, the long driving southpaw; Dick Hackett, Leon and Dean Covington, and Jim Byars, head the Rome group already practicing.

Red Roberts, the Dalton champion, is another strong entry from north Georgia.

GRIFIN THREATS.
Griffin has Guy Haisten, Robert Sheppard, Bud Eskew and Bob Cheatham.

Horace Wright, Bill Little, head a group from Athens.

Douglas Head has entered from Zebulon, Ga.

Litt Glover and Tom Parrott pace the Griffin entry.

There need be no comment on Atlanta's entries, many of whom practiced Sunday, both at Druid Hills and on their own courses.

Entries will be received as long as time will permit the playing of 18 holes Tuesday, but early entries will get a preference in starting times. Paul Duke, veteran starter and referee, requests all players who desire special starting times to get reservations as early as possible today. The preferred times are rapidly being closed out.

TEAM WARFARE.
Team competition will be keener than ever before for almost every club in the state, particularly those here in Atlanta, will have to wait until after the practice rounds to name their best players for the team.

Aside from that championship foursome, there were few scores around par, although most of the players were seeking a range for their shots, rather than try for low scores. The low scores will be the object of Tuesday's qualifying round.

And then the battle for the state title will begin early Wednesday morning.

REDDICK NAMED AIDE AT MERCER

MACON, Ga., July 17.—(P)—Head Coach Lake Russell, of Mercer University, Saturday night announced the appointment of Gordon Reddick, a Bear guard in 1931-32-33, as line coach to succeed John Harrison.

A native of Cairo, Ga., Reddick graduated in 1934. He had helped with spring practice that season and Russell considers him the outstanding lineman he has had in the 12 years at Mercer.

Reddick has been connected with an oil concern in Charlotte. Coach Russell announced he would assemble "between 35 and 40" players for practice on September 1. Mercer opens with Wolford here September 24, a schedule that includes three Southeastern conference teams, Georgia Tech, Tulane and Georgia on successive week-ends.

All in the GAME by Jack Troy

After all these years Joe Engel has overlooked one of the best stunts of all. And it is a bit surprising, knowing Joe and his flair for the unusual.

Why didn't he let Rogers Hornsby continue his criticism of baseball ballyhoo? With Joe and Hornsby at odds over the baseball versus ballyhoo angle, it might have meant more customers at the gate.

Because every time Engel pulled another stunt a lot of folks would have been there to see how Hornsby could take it.

Instead—and it is a bit surprising that Hornsby backed up in his stand as he did—the Rajah said the minors needed added attractions as a stimulant and gate attraction.

Which brings up a really pertinent point. The Rajah is absolutely right about Chattanooga, for instance, needing something extra to attract fans. The ballyhoo is better than the brand of baseball played.

But does the Atlanta baseball management have to resort to stunts to pack 'em in?

No, the Atlanta baseball management gives the fans a real ball club and the attendance, consequently, takes care of itself. No ballyhoo is needed here.

So Hornsby is right and wrong. Chattanooga certainly needs it.

Engel doesn't usually make mistakes like the Hornsby one, but it is gratifying to know, anyway, that at last a flaw has been found in the great showman.

TOUGH ONE FOR BROWN.
If Ben Brown scores a decisive victory over Babe Risko tonight at Warren arena it will boost his middleweight stock considerably.

Risko, a clean-cut, lithe-limbed young man who formerly held the middleweight championship of the world, is essaying a comeback.

There was about a year and a half after he lost his title to Ray Steele that Risko did not pull on a glove. But the lure of the game brought him back and in his last two starts he has disposed of a couple of pretty fair ring customers—Gorilla Jones and Bat Battaglia.

The only marks Risko carries from the numerous ring wars in which he has participated are around the eyebrows. All fighters get marked up there.

The Babe is intent on staging a real comeback and he has youth, among other things, in his favor. There is no question about his being in shape. He'll probably enter the ring tonight weighing around 163.

They're both easy to look at physically. You might say, without stretching the imagination any, that both Brown and Risko are handsome warriors.

But, of course, they are not engaged in a beauty contest and a spell in the ring may change their looks a bit. It means a lot to Brown to win this one and he thinks he can. Sam Sobel, Ben's manager, is not overconfident. "Risko knows his way around. He has met the best in the business in the middleweight class. He is a smart fighter and Ben will have to step to beat him," he said yesterday.

ATLANTA'S FIGHT HOPE.
The decision rests with Ben Brown as to whether Atlanta is to become again one of the fight centers of the country. It hasn't been a good fight town since Sergeant Sammy Baker belted over Ted Goodrich.

Brown, who is not yet 21, has his future before him and, as aforementioned, he will shape the future of Atlanta as a fight town.

There are plenty of fight customers here but you can't blame them for staying away from the fights until it is clearly shown that there is something to see.

It's a sort of once bitten, twice shy proposition. So Ben Brown is the big hope. And if he keeps on improving Atlantans may have the pleasure of going to see the new middleweight champion of the world before long.

NO PEEPING ALLOWED.
The Moultrie operative comes through with news that the aid of police has been asked in trying to keep potential customers from peeping over and under the fences.

Here is a great chance for One-eyed Connolly. Connolly never thought of opening a school for gate-crashers. Connolly would teach the folks how to get right in the park and view the game in comfort from a grandstand seat.

There is a city ordinance, the Moultrie correspondent points out, which prevents peeping at games. But up to now it hasn't been enforced. It is understood that Mack Tharpe, Tech's line coach, who hails from Moultrie, has violated the ordinance on occasions.

THAT BIRMINGHAM TEAM.
The Birmingham Barons finally have clambered into the first division. Here is one of the mystery teams of the Southern league.

The Barons are first in the league in team hitting, second in fielding but fourth in the league standings. The Barons have the league-leading hitter in Murray Howell, an Atlanta boy, and have pitchers near the top in the records.

It's a great thing for the league to have Birmingham climbing and offering a potential threat to Atlanta's lead. From an attendance standpoint Birmingham is one of the finest towns in the league.

And if it should happen that the Barons and Atlanta settle down into a two-team race, just watch the turnstile click. A new Southern league attendance record might be established.

New Orleans also is on the rise. This is another fine thing in favor of record-breaking attendance.

DIZ' WIN POPULAR.
When the loudspeaker conveyed to the fans at Ponce de Leon the fact that Ole Diz had won his ball game and allowed only four hits a great roar went up.

I imagine fans all over the country feel the same way about Dean. Ole Diz has pulled some eccentric tricks in his home, such as walking out on a charity game at Chattanooga, but he has the backing of the fans.

His four-hitter gave evidence that his arm is okay and if the Cubs can go on to win a pennant because of his pitching, it will justify Owner Wrigley's $185,000 gamble. Even if they don't take the flag and Diz has a good year it will have been a good deal.

CAPTURES EAST POINT TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Cortez Suttles, promising young net star, bested Carlisle Vason yesterday to win the East Point tennis title. Suttles' championship play was of the calibre of his performance in the recent city tournament in which he upset Preston Chambers, only to be eliminated by Hank Crawford in a hard-fought match.

SUTTLES WINS AT EAST POINT

Cortez Suttles easily defeated Carlisle Vason yesterday in the finals of the East Point tennis tournament, 6-1, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3.

The doubles title went to Parker Stillwell and Chester Tulin who bested Jody Brown and Pugh Smith in the finals. The scores were 8-6, 3-6, 6-4 and 6-3.

Brown and Smith had entered the finals through a victory over Bill Ellison and Roy Goen, 12-10, and 10-8.

A large crowd saw the finals. Trophies were awarded to the winners.

Brown Faces Risko In Feature Tonight

'Pa' Stribling To Referee Bout; Crowd of 3,750 Expected To Jam Warren Arena.

By THAD HOLT.
At some hour approaching 11 tonight, at least one of the very handsome faces owned by 20-year-old Ben Brown and 27-year-old Babe Risko is expected to resemble one of those beaten game chickens which give their all in the cock fighting sport that is Cuba's.

Brown, the Atlanta greyhound, fast of foot and hand and keyed for his most important fight before the home folks, meets the former middleweight champion of the world in 10 heats or less and a capacity throng of 3,750 ring followers are expected to jam the cool and comfortable Warren arena, regarded as the finest boxing plant in the entire southland.

None of the boys have done a lot of experting on this one. They figure it to be one of those dog-eat-dog affairs with both men wonderfully trained and ready for any kind of fight.

Brown's cleverness and sharp hitting have won for him the respect of fans and fighters alike. He has dropped only two decisions in three years—both in the 175-pound division. Ben is Atlanta's greatest modern ring prospect and a distinct credit to the game.

A win over the rugged and experienced Risko, who numbers Gorilla Jones among his more recent victims, would elevate the Atlanta Adonis to a high place in his class.

Risko has plenty to lose in defeat. He is in the midst of a thus far successful comeback campaign which he hopes will gain him a return bout with Freddie Steele, to whom he lost his title in 1936. A victory tonight also will assure the Babe of an early appearance in Paris against Marcel Thiel, European champion.

W. L. "Pa" Stribling, who knows the boxing game backwards, will be third man in the ring, lending prestige to an already outstanding attraction. "Pa" has never seen Brown fight, but often has expressed a wish to do so. Stribling has seen Risko go a number of times.

The preliminaries, which get under way at 8:30, should produce some lively scraps. Frankie Allen, Atlanta favorite, and Chester Conklin meet in the eight-round semi-final.

Grant Meets Sutter In Exhibition Tonight

Bitsy Grant and Ernie Sutter, national intercollegiate champion last year and one of the south's best netmen, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in an exhibition match on the North-side courts.

The match will consist of two sets out of three singles and is under the auspices of the Atlanta Lawn Tennis Association. Molly Williamson, secretary, announced that a doubles match with Grant and Sutter, as the principals, will be arranged.

Sutter is stopping over here on his way to Asheville where on Saturday he will battle Charles Harris for the Southern Lawn tennis title. Both reached the finals in the tourney of June 18 and now have their first chance to play off for the crown.

PETERS' HOMER BEATS LINDSEY IN FIRST CLASH

Shotgun Williams Hurt, Stays in Game; Teams Idle Today.

By JACK TROY.
Capturing both ends of a double-header from Little Rock, the pennant-seeking Crackers yesterday increased their Southern league lead to six and one-half games.

It was the third straight win for the Crackers in the series which will be concluded Tuesday night.

Russ Peters' ninth-inning home run with two men out and nobody on broke a deadlock that gave the Crackers a 5-to-4 decision in the first game. Jim Lindsay, who had pitched great ball in a relief role, was the victim.

In the second game, the Crackers knocked Garland Braxton from the box and took a comparatively easy 6-to-4 victory. A shaky defense gave the Pebs three runs in the seventh.

Bobby Durham, relieving Ted Pritchett, was the winning pitcher in the first game. Bill Beckman won the route in the second game and turned in his 13th victory of the season. Braxton, who was relieved by Sayles, was the loser.

SAME OLD STORY.
As has been the case in every game of the series to date, the Pebbles got off to a first-inning lead and the Crackers came from behind to win.

Russ Peters' three hits led the seven-hit Cracker attack in the first game, while John Hill set the pace in the finale. He secured three of the Crackers' eight hits.

The Pebs were limited to six hits in each game. No player got more than one in either game.

The double victory all but knocked Little Rock out of second place. They're barely hanging on. And the dual win established the Crackers as a hard club to catch in the pennant race.

CROWD OF 7,378.
The double-header was witnessed by 7,378 fans. That brings the season's total to 152,072. The club is behind last year's attendance by several thousand, largely due to the fact that there have been some rainy Sundays.

The clubs will observe an off day today. The Crackers have earned a good rest.

Most everything happened in the first game, including Umpire Claude Bond's attack of the blind staggers. He called Jim Lindsay

Beware Two Germs that cause tortures of ringworm or Athlete's Foot

Medical authorities agree that Athlete's Foot (discomfort is caused by bacteria (fungus) and an animal parasite. Often there is a "mixed" infection. That's why it's important that you use a treatment designed to kill both types of germs. What you need is ARM SOLUTION. It penetrates deeply into the cracked infected areas. First application stops the itching. Quickly attacks both types of parasites and helps to speed away the scales, sores and blisters. Easy to use. Try ARM SOLUTION for 5 days. If your Athlete's Foot, ringworm or jockey itch does not improve to your entire satisfaction, your money will be refunded. Only 50c at drugists on this positive iron-clad guarantee.

Grant Meets Sutter In Exhibition Tonight

Bitsy Grant and Ernie Sutter, national intercollegiate champion last year and one of the south's best netmen, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in an exhibition match on the North-side courts.

The match will consist of two sets out of three singles and is under the auspices of the Atlanta Lawn Tennis Association. Molly Williamson, secretary, announced that

Czech Sudeten Concessions Will Be Examined Today

President Edward Benes and Cabinet Members To Confer.

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, July 17.—(AP)—The Czechoslovak government's concessions to Sudeten Germans and other minorities will receive a final examination tomorrow at a meeting between President Edward Benes and the seven political members of his cabinet.

The meeting which might well be the turning point toward peace or toward further misunderstandings, will be with the cabinet members who represent Czechoslovakia's various political parties.

On the eve of the conference ministers and officials were irritated by what they said were false reports from German quarters yesterday that the Czechoslovak army was mobilizing again.

There was speculation whether the "incident" might influence the trend of negotiations.

Official denials of the mobilization were emphatic and complete. The government issued a statement accusing Germany of "brutal and disturbing" interference.

The newspaper Prager Presse observed "quite properly the German official news agency (DNB) has protested energetically against spreading false rumors concerning Germany."

"But it would be well when the situation is reversed if this agency itself refrained from broadcasting unsupported inventions which disturb the public."

It was stated that actually there was less routine movement of troops than normally, because those called for service on May 21 were being given a rest.

These troops were moved to the frontier at the same time German soldiers were reported massed on the border when tension flared over the autonomy demands of Nazi Chieftain Konrad Henlein.

The German minority is demanding defined geographic regions within which it asks a greatly enlarged measure of self-government.

Little hope was held that the question would be sufficiently in hand to submit the parliament by July 25. Officials hoped, however, parliament could meet not later than August 2.

GRAVES SAYS SOUTH WILL WIN RATE WAR

Dixie Will Become Workshop of America, Jubilant Governor Declares.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 17. (AP)—Victory for the south in its battle to obtain rail freight "parity" was predicted tonight by Governor Bibb Graves upon his return from Buffalo, N. Y., where he argued Dixie's case at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing.

"I am confident we are going to win this fight," Graves, president of the Southeastern Governors' Conference, said, adding: "And the winning will mean more to the south than anything that has happened since the War Between the States. It will mean the south will become the workshop of America; that instead of being on the bottom we will be on the top of the heap."

"This is probably the most intensely fought rate case in the nation's history," Graves said. "The east and north, however, are entirely too much alarmed. They are appraised that the rate revision we are after will mean a general exodus of industry from those sections southward. It will not mean that. We have repeatedly stressed what it will mean is a general revival of business and industry all over the nation by removing the handicaps that now prevent us from trading together. It will give every seller a nationwide market in which to sell his goods, and give every buyer a nationwide source of supply from which to buy his goods."

New Hit-Run Type Makes Debut Here

A new type of "hit and run" motorist appeared on police records yesterday.

An accident was reported in which a car struck a telephone pole, throwing a passenger to the ground. The driver drove off and left him.

James Hall, 20, of 670 East North avenue, N. E., the abandoned victim, was treated at Grady hospital for lacerations about the head and dismissed. Hall said he knew the driver only as "Bill."

Officers investigating said the accident occurred at Courtland and Ellis streets when "Bill" attempted to make a left turn and failed. "Bill" was still being sought last night.

MISS NAN FOWLER DIES IN 87TH YEAR

Services Will Be Held This Afternoon.

Miss Nan Fowler, member of a pioneer DeKalb county family, died yesterday morning at her home, 533 Angier avenue, N. E. She was 86 years old.

Born on the old Fowler farm, on Rock Bridge road in the Indian Creek district, she lived there until 20 years ago, when she moved to Atlanta to make her home with a sister-in-law, Mrs. William A. Fowler. She had been a member of the Indian Creek Baptist church for 71 years.

Funeral services will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Indian Creek Baptist church, with the Rev. Homer C. Johnson, and Dr. A. T. Allen officiating. Burial will be in the churchyard, under the direction of A. S. Turner & Sons.

Another sister-in-law, Mrs. Mattie E. Fowler, Atlanta, and several nieces and nephews survive.

VENEREAL FUNDS WILL TREAT POOR

Major Part Set Aside for Those Unable to Obtain Private Care.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—Government physicians said today that the major part of a new $3,000,000 fund for control of venereal diseases would be devoted to treatment of persons who could not pay for private care.

Members of the Public Health Service's venereal diseases division said funds would be distributed to every state for use in buying medicines, establishing or aiding clinics, financing educational work or paying salaries of persons engaged in control activities.

For these purposes, $2,400,000 will be divided among the states, in the present fiscal year, on a basis of population, financial needs and the extent of venereal disease.

The federal service is retaining $600,000 for the development of prevention, treatment and control methods.

Officials hastened to say the $3,000,000 would not be sufficient to solve the problem. Congress, in approving a venereal disease act at the last session, authorized appropriations of $5,000,000 for the 1940 fiscal year, $7,000,000 for the 1941 year and as much as may be necessary thereafter.
